

TERMOAROLA by Ramon Soler®. A bathroom thermostatic tap with a cascade.

To be at the forefront of design and up to date, Ramon Soler® places great value in designers such as Antoni Arola, who designed the TERMOAROLA which forms part of that collection.

TERMOAROLA is a thermostatic high range tap including new technical innovations. With the new TERMOAROLA tapware even the finest details are covered, offering a robust and high level of quality with metallic handles. The thermostatic cartridge is a Ramon Soler® patent, highly reliable and gives a special level of comfort for the user.

The thermostatic function of the handle permits rapid temperature control (in less than one second) which offers a high level of comfort without high temperature oscillations, that way the user does not feel any great changes.

If the cold water supply is interrupted, the “hotblock” antiscalding system offers total security, and is especially recommended for use with children, elderly people and disabled persons. This tapware is also eco-efficient having the S2 water and energy saving system incorporated.

The Arola has been designed for a public which enjoys the modern design and technological advances offered by Ramon Soler®. The TERMOAROLA lines are very clean with the inclusion of harmonic lines where a flat surface is built onto the tapware. This shelf can be used to place soap or bubble bath.

TERMOAROLA has a cascade water outlet, and the waterfall is very pleasing both visually and acoustically, with the luxury of having a great “wellness” space within our bathroom.

Design: Antoni Arola
